Description :

Army Military Special Force Helmet

Technical Specification :

The Armour Advanced Tactical Special Force helmet is a specially designed light-weight head protection gear for Special Forces teams. With no lip and ear coverage, offering maximum flexibility and comfort, this helmet has a minimal profile allowing for extended usage. Providing essential impact protection against multiple types of ammunition, it is the most popular helmet for tactical missions.

Manufactured in compliance with NIJ and DOD specifications, these helmets protect against deadly cranial impacts. Our ballistic head gear has minimal Behind Armour Blunt Trauma making it your ultimate safeguard against head injuries. We can also offer customized versions of these helmets according to your requirements.
